

No letter was written, however, they were notified via calls and emails.